<<Variable Text 1 (Notice of /Data Breach / Security Incident)>>

Dear <<First Name>>:

We are writing to let you know of a cybersecurity incident that affected certain of your personal information stored in your First Advantage Enterprise Screening Corporation (“First Advantage”) Profile Advantage account. We are providing you with information about the incident, our response, and additional measures you can take to help protect yourself.

What Happened?

On or about November 12, 2024, an unauthorized third party gained access to a small number of Profile Advantage accounts using valid log-in credentials. On December 10, 2024, we became aware of the unauthorized activity and promptly activated our response process, launching an investigation into the nature of the issue.

There is no evidence that your log-in credentials were taken from First Advantage, and we recommend changing passwords for any other accounts that use the same email address as a username and the same password.

What Information Was Involved?

First Advantage has determined that your name, Social Security number, driver’s license number, email address, and password to your Profile Advantage account were affected by this incident.

What We Are Doing.

As part of our response, we have reset account credentials for all affected consumers and implemented additional security measures to strengthen the ongoing security of Profile Advantage accounts.

We have not received any confirmed reports of this personal information being used for fraud or identity theft purposes as a result of this incident. As an additional precaution, we are offering you two years of complimentary credit monitoring and identity restoration services through Experian. Details about this offer and instructions on how to activate these services are enclosed with this letter. You must enroll by April 30, 2025 to use these services.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus: Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call 1-877-322-8228 toll-free. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
