1 FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

2
3 8. On or about August 30, 2024, Plaintiff visited the Rejuvenation
4 website, owned and operated by Defendants, in search of a Steele-branded laundry
5 hamper.

6 9. Defendants prominently advertised "Free Shipping Site-Wide" on 7 their website, and Plaintiff, relying on this representation, proceeded to select the 8 product and size he intended to purchase. At all stages of this process, the website
9 continued to display the "Free Shipping Site-Wide" promotion with no visible or 10 readily accessible exclusions.

11 10. Plaintiff added the selected item to his shopping cart and applied
12 the promo code "freeship" as instructed. Despite Defendants' express representation
13 of free shipping, a shipping fee of $159 was still being charged in the shopping cart.

14 11. Plaintiff immediately contacted Rejuvenation's customer service
15 department. The customer service representative, upon confirming the details of the 16 item and the promotion, agreed that the item should indeed qualify for free shipping,
17 per the promotional terms displayed online.

18 12. The representative assured Plaintiff that if he proceeded with the 19 purchase, he could subsequently obtain a refund for the shipping fee by contacting
20 their business line. In reliance on this assurance, Plaintiff completed the purchase.

21 13. Upon contacting the business line as instructed, Plaintiff was 22 transferred multiple times between representatives. He was finally informed that the 23 initial customer service representative had made a mistake and that the item was not 24 eligible for free shipping due to its weight—a restriction that was not disclosed on the 25 product page or any easily accessible section of the website.

26 14. Plaintiff then reviewed Defendants' "Exclusions" page as directed
27 by the representative. This page contained no mention of any exclusions for heavy 28 items, and in fact, the exclusions were limited to items ending in "$.97" or "$.99" as

1 being non-returnable. There was no mention of weight restrictions or shipping
2 limitations for the Steele-branded laundry hampers or any similar products.

3 15. Plaintiff attempted to resolve the matter with a supervisor,
4 providing photographic evidence and a video demonstrating that the website did not
5 include any relevant exclusions. Despite these efforts, Defendants refused to honor 6 their promotional terms, instead offering a discount on the shipping fee, which 7 Plaintiff declined.

8 16. Defendants' conduct demonstrates a deliberate scheme to mislead
9 consumers into making purchases based on promises of "Free Shipping" that they did
10 not intend to honor, thereby deceiving consumers and unjustly enriching themselves
11 at the expense of consumers.

12 17. As a direct result of Defendants' conduct, Plaintiff and other 13 consumers have suffered economic damages and emotional distress, as they were 14 induced to make purchases under false pretenses and had their complaints and 15 requests for rectification disregarded.

16 18. Plaintiff has time-stamped photos, screenshots, and video
17 evidence showing that Defendants misrepresented the availability of free shipping
18 and that the exclusion information provided was insufficient, vague, and misleading.

19 19. On information and belief, Defendants have engaged in similar 20 conduct with numerous other consumers across the United States, systematically
21 charging shipping fees despite advertising "Free Shipping Site-Wide" without 22 disclosing the true terms of the promotion.

1 CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

2
3 20. Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of himself, and all others
4 similarly situated pursuant to Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, or as 5 otherwise appropriate under California law. The Class is defined as:

6
7 All individuals in California who, within the last four years, purchased
8 products from Rejuvenation under the representation of "Free Shipping Site-
9 Wide" and were subsequently charged for shipping.

10
11 21. Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the Class, and he will 12 fairly and adequately represent and protect the interests of the Class.

13 22. The class is ascertainable, and there is a well-defined community
14 of interest in the litigation:

- 15 a. Numerosity: The class members are so numerous that joinder of all class
16 members is impracticable. The membership of the entire class is unknown
17 to Plaintiff at this time; however, the class is estimated to be greater than 18 fifty (50) individuals, and the identity individuals who were charged
19 shipping fees despite Defendants advertising "Free Shipping Site-Wide" is 20 readily ascertainable by inspection of Defendants' records.
- 21 b. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of all other class members' claims 22 as demonstrated herein. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the 23 interests of the other class members with whom Plaintiff has a well-defined 24 community of interest.
- 25 c. Adequacy: Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of each 26 class member, with whom Plaintiff has a well-defined community of 27 interest and typicality of claims, as demonstrated herein. Plaintiff has no
28 interest that is antagonistic to the other class members. Plaintiff's attorneys,

1 the proposed class counsel, are versed in the rules governing class action
2 discovery, certification, and settlement. Plaintiff has incurred, and during 3 the pendency of this action will continue to incur, costs and fees that have 4 been, are, and will be necessarily expended for the prosecution of this 5 action for the substantial benefit of each class member.

- 6 d. Superiority: A class action is superior to other available methods for the 7 fair and efficient adjudication of this litigation because individual joinder of 8 all class members is impractical.
- 9 e. Public Policy Consideration: A class action will serve the public interest
10 by holding Drop Technologies Inc. accountable for widespread unlawful 11 practices and ensuring that all affected consumers receive appropriate
12 remedies. It will also deter similar conduct by Williams-Sonoma, Inc., 13 Rejuvenation (collectively, "Defendants"), and DOES 1-10 and other 14 companies in the future.
- 15 f. Commonality: Common questions of law and fact exist, including:
16 a. Whether Defendants falsely advertised "Free Shipping Site-Wide"
17 without disclosing material exclusions;
18 b. Whether Defendants' actions constitute fraud;
19 c. Whether Plaintiff and the class members are entitled to damages,
20 restitution, and/or injunctive relief.

4 on these misrepresentations and make purchases they otherwise might not have made.

5 26. Plaintiff and the Class reasonably relied on Defendants'
6 misrepresentations, believing that they would receive free shipping as advertised.

7 27. As a result of Defendants' fraudulent conduct, Plaintiff and the 8 Class members have suffered damages, including payment of unexpected shipping 9 fees and related losses.
