similarly situated, by and through his attorneys, hereby bring this Collective/Class Action Complaint against Defendant THE GOLDEN 1 CREDIT UNION, INC. (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Defendant"), jointly and severally, and state as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. This is a collective and class action brought for violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, 29 U.S.C. § 201, et seq. ("FLSA") as a FLSA § 216(b) collective action and California state-wide class action pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3) for state law claims, including California Labor Code ("Labor Code"); the California Industrial Welfare Commission, Wage Order No. 4 ("Wage Order"); the California Business & Professional Code section 17200, et seq.; and others as pleaded below. Additionally, Plaintiff also asserts representative claims pursuant to Private Attorney General Act (Cal. Lab. Code §§ 2698, et seq.) for violations of relevant sections of the Labor Code and Wage Order as set forth below.

Defendant is in the banking and finance business.

3. Defendant employed call center sales employees, referred to herein as call center customer support representatives ("CSR"). Defendant employed these CSRs, including Plaintiff, in a call center facility in Sacramento, California.

4. Defendant employs over one hundred CSRs to provide customer support to its clients via inbound phone calls.

5. The individuals Named Plaintiff seek to represent in this action are current and former CSRs who are similarly situated to themselves in terms of their positions, job duties, pay structure, and Defendant's violations of federal and state law.

Defendant required its CSRs to work a full-time schedule, plus overtime. However, Defendant did not actually or accurately record their CSRs' compensable work time as required by law.

7. Defendant required CSRs, such as Plaintiff, to perform substantial off-the-clock work every day before they clocked into Defendant's timekeeping system at the beginning of the work day and after they clocked out at the end of the work day. Specifically, this off-the-clock work occurred as CSRs booted up their computers and logged into programs at the beginning of the day, and, conversely, logged out of applications and shutdown their computers at the end of the day. The time CSRs spent booting up and logging into these programs and applications before and after their shifts was compensable because the programs and applications were an integral, indispensable, and important part of the CSRs' work and they could not perform their jobs effectively without them.

Case 2:18-cv-02926-JAM-EFB Document 1 Filed 11/06/18 Page 3 of 29

8. The CSRs performed the same basic job duties and were required to use the same or similar computer networks, software programs, applications, and phone systems.

9. Defendant knew or could have easily determined how long it took for their CSRs to complete their unpaid work, and Defendant could have properly compensated Plaintiff and the putative Class for this work, but they did not.

10. Furthermore, Defendant systematically failed to properly calculate Plaintiff and other CSRs' regular hourly rate by failing to include all remuneration in the regular rate calculation. Specifically, Plaintiff and all other CSRs were paid on an hourly rate of approximately $16.49 per hour. However, CSRs also received additional non-discretionary bonuses for meeting certain performance metrics set by Defendant. That additional income was not factored into the determination of the CSRs' regular hourly rate for overtime purposes.

11. In addition, Defendant imposed work duties and otherwise operated in a manner that encouraged or required CSRs to skip rest and meal periods. Defendant failed to provide bona fide meal and rest periods, as required by California law. More specifically, Defendant required CSRs to return to their work stations early from their lunch break to complete the log-in process, so they were prepared to resume taking calls immediately after their lunch break ended. Additionally, during rest break, Defendant failed to completely relieve the CSRs from their work duties.

12. Plaintiff seeks a declaration that his rights, and the rights of the putative Class, were violated, an award of unpaid wages, an award of liquidated damages, statutory penalties, injunctive and declaratory relief, attendant penalties, and award of attorneys' fees and costs to make them whole for damages they suffered, and to ensure that they and future workers will not be subjected by Defendant to such illegal conduct in the future.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

Case 2:18-cv-02926-JAM-EFB Document 1 Filed 11/06/18 Page 4 of 29

13. This Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b) and 28 U.S.C. 1 2 §§ 1331 and 1367.

14. This Court also has original jurisdiction over this action under the Class Action Fairness 4 Act 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d). This is a class action in which: (1) there are 100 or more members in the proposed class; (2) at least some members of the proposed classes have a different citizenship from 6 Defendant; and (3) the claims of the proposed class members exceed $5,000,000 in the aggregate.

15. This Court has jurisdiction over Plaintiff's state law claims under 28 U.S.C. § 1367 because the state law claim and the federal claim are so closely related that they form part of the same case or controversy under Article III of the United States Constitution.

16. This Court is empowered to issue a declaratory judgment pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2201 and 2202.

17. Venue is proper in the Eastern District of California because a substantial portion of the events forming the basis of this suit occurred in the Eastern District of California, specifically, in Sacramento, California.

PARTIES

18. Plaintiff Deshawn Ware has been employed by Defendant as a CSR in Sacramento, California from January 2018 to the present. In that position, Defendant has compensated him on an hourly rate, plus commissions, incentives, and/or bonuses. He typically worked approximately 40 or more hours per week (and more than 8 hours per day). He has filed a consent to join form, attached hereto as Exhibit A.

19. Additional individuals who were or are employed by Defendant as CSRs during the past four years will also file their consent forms in this case.

20. Defendant, The Golden One Credit Union, Inc. ("Golden One") is a California Corporation (Secretary of State File No. C0154822) with a headquarters and service of process address listed as 8945 Cal Center Drive, Sacramento, California 95826. Its registered agent for service in California is Courtney Linn.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

Case 2:18-cv-02926-JAM-EFB Document 1 Filed 11/06/18 Page 5 of 29

21. Defendant operates a financial institution that offers its customers products and services such as: checking accounts, savings accounts, student loans, home loans, investments, estate planning, credit cards, and insurance. See https://www.golden1.com/ProductsServices/default (last visited on 8/28/18).

22. In order to assist customers with these products, Defendant employs CSRs in a call center located in Sacramento, California. Plaintiff estimates that there are anywhere from 200 to 300 CSRs employed at the call center during any given time.

23. As a CSR in Defendant's call center, Plaintiff and all other CSRs were responsible for, among other things, responding to inbound telephone calls from Defendant's customers, and assisting those customers with any issues or questions they had regarding Defendant's financial products and services.

24. Defendant paid Plaintiff a base hourly rate of $16.49 per hour, plus commissions, incentives, and/or bonuses based on specified performance metrics.

25. Throughout their employment with Defendant, CSRs were required to work a substantial amount of unpaid off-the-clock time, including overtime, as part of their jobs.

26. Defendant's CSRs were responsible for, among other things: (a) booting up their computers and logging into several software programs before taking phone calls; (b) booting up their computers and logging into several software programs when returning from lunch; and (c) logging out of the computer programs and shutting down their computers.

27. Defendant maintained strict expectations that CSRs be prepared to begin taking calls promptly at the start of their shifts. However, in order to be prepared to receive calls promptly at the start of their shift CSRs were required to log into a number of essential work applications, which include: Smart Suite, TNAV Loans-Manager, Pay by Phone, Case Management, Springboard, Relationship Manager, Visa Cats, Partner Care, Verafin, Document Manager, OSI, E-funds Qualifile, Jabber, and Visa Online Resolve.

26 28. A CSR's failure to be prepared to field calls at the start of their shift resulted in a 27 violation of Defendant's attendance policies, and subjected the CSR to disciplinary action.

29. Defendant required their CSRs to work rigid schedules, usually consisting of many

Case 2:18-cv-02926-JAM-EFB Document 1 Filed 11/06/18 Page 6 of 29

overtime hours on a weekly basis.

30. Defendant failed to accurately account for and pay for all of the time actually worked by employees which is a clear violation of FLSA's recordkeeping requirements. See 29 U.S.C. § 211(c).

31. In addition to their hourly rate, Defendant also compensated CSRs with nondiscretionary bonuses, commissions, and or other incentive payments.

32. Defendant failed to include the additional compensation CSRs received in the form of nondiscretionary bonuses, commissions, or other incentive payments in the calculation of their regular hourly rate. Instead, Defendant based the CSRs' overtime rate strictly on the hourly wage rate they are paid – without consideration of additional remuneration that was paid to the CSRs during each pay period.

Off-the-Clock Work

33. In addition to their regularly scheduled shifts, Defendant's CSRs performed off-theclock work that went uncompensated.

34. Pursuant to Defendant's policies, training and direction, CSRs were required to startup and login to various secure computer networks, software programs, and applications in order to access information and software.

35. The CSR's startup and login process takes substantial time on a daily basis with said time ranging from 4 to 10 minutes per day, or even longer if technical issues arise. Defendant's CSRs were never compensated for this time, which directly benefitted Defendant and was an essential part of the CSRs' job responsibilities.

36. Additionally, Defendant's CSRs were required to logout of and close down various programs at the end of each shift. The log-out process occurred each shift with said time also ranging from 4 to 10 minutes per day. Defendant's CSRs were never paid for this time either, which directly benefitted Defendant and was an essential part of the CSRs' job responsibilities.

37. The U.S. Department of Labor recognizes that call center jobs, like those held by Defendant's CSRs, are homogenous and it issued Fact Sheet #64 in July 2008 to alert call center employees to some of the abuses which are prevalent in the industry. One of those abuses, which is occurring in this case, is an employer's refusal to pay for work "from the beginning of the first principal activity of the workday to the end of the last principal activity of the workday." DOL Fact Sheet #64.

38. The Department of Labor's Fact Sheet #64 specifically condemns an employer's nonpayment of an employee's necessary pre- and post-shift activities: "An example of the first principal activity of the day for CSRs/specialists/representatives working in call centers includes starting the computer to download work instructions, computer applications and work-related emails." See, Id., at p. 2. Additionally, the FLSA requires that "[a] daily or weekly record of all hours worked, including time spent in pre-shift and post-shift job-related activities must be kept." Id.

Meal and Rest Period Violations

39. Defendant promised each CSR one unpaid meal period during each shift. However, in reality, Defendant often required CSRs to work through unpaid meal periods if there were not enough CSRs to cover the phones.

40. Under the federal law, in order to deduct an unpaid meal period from an employee's compensable time, an employee must be completely relieved of his or her employment duties for the entire lunch break. 29 CFR 785.19(a) states:

Bona fide meal periods. Bona fide meal periods are not work time. Bona fide meal periods do not include coffee breaks or time for snacks. These are rest periods. The employee must be completely relieved from duty for the purposes of eating regular meals. Ordinarily 30 minutes or more is long enough for a bona fide meal period. A shorter period may be long enough under special conditions. The employee is not relieved if he is required to perform any duties, whether active or inactive, while eating. For example, an office employee who is required to eat at his desk or a factory worker who is required to be at his machine is working while eating. (emphasis added).

41. However, Defendant did not provide their CSRs with a legitimate bona fide meal period.

42. Under California law, employers must provide a meal period of at least 30 minutes for every five (5) hours worked. Cal. Lab. Code § 512(a) states:

Case 2:18-cv-02926-JAM-EFB Document 1 Filed 11/06/18 Page 8 of 29

An employer may not employ an employee for a work period of more than five hours per day without providing the employee with a meal period of not less than 30 minutes, except that if the total work period per day of the employee is no more than six hours, the meal period may be waived by mutual consent of both the employer and employee. An employer may not employ an employee for a work period of more than 10 hours per day without providing the employee with a second meal period of not less than 30 minutes, except that if the total hours worked is no more than 12 hours, the second meal period may be waived by mutual consent of the employer and the employee only if the first meal period was not waived.

43. Additionally, the applicable Industrial Welfare Commission Wage Order states that an employee is also entitled to a ten (10) minute break for each four (4) hour period, or major fraction thereof, worked.

44. However, Defendant failed to provide their CSRs with a 30-minute meal period for every five (5) hours worked, or a rest period for each four (4) hour period worked. Accordingly, Plaintiff and the Class are entitled to one additional hour of compensation per workday for a missed meal and rest period.

Defendant Unlawfully Benefitted From The CSRs' Uncompensated Work

45. At all relevant times, Defendant directed and directly benefited from the uncompensated off-the-clock work performed by CSRs.

46. At all relevant times, Defendant controlled the work schedules, duties, protocols, applications, assignments and employment conditions of CSRs.

47. At all relevant times, Defendant was able to track the amount of time their CSRs spent working; however, Defendant failed to document, track, or pay its CSRs for all the work they performed, including off-the-clock work.

48. At all relevant times, Plaintiff and all other CSRs were non-exempt employees, subject to the requirements of the FLSA and the California Labor Code.

28

49. At all relevant times, Defendant's policies and practices deprived their CSRs of wages

Case 2:18-cv-02926-JAM-EFB Document 1 Filed 11/06/18 Page 9 of 29

| 1 | owed for the off-the-clock work activities and their required meal periods. Because Defendant's CSRs | | | | | |
|----------|---|--|--|--|--|--|
| 2 | typically worked over 40 hours in a workweek, and more than eight (8) hours per day, Defendant's | | | | | |
| 3 | policies and practices also deprived them of overtime pay. | | | | | |
| 4 | 50. Defendant knew or should have known that Plaintiff and other CSRs' off-the-clock | | | | | |
| 5 | work was compensable under the law. Indeed, in light of the explicit DOL guidance cited above, there | | | | | |
| 6 | is no conceivable way for Defendant to establish that it acted in good faith. | | | | | |
| 7 | 51. As an example of one particular workweek where Defendant failed to pay Plaintiff | | | | | |
| 8 | overtime for hours worked in excess of 40 hours (as mandated by the FLSA and California Labor | | | | | |
| 9 | Code), during the weeks of March 18, 2018 to March 31, 2018: | | | | | |
| 10 | Plaintiff was paid for 80 hours of regular time and 1.57 hours of overtime. See Exhibit B. | | | | | |
| 11 12 | With pre-, mid-, and post-shift time of 9 to 25 minutes per shift, working a full time 40 hour workweek, Plaintiff should have been paid an | | | | | |
| 13 | additional 40 to 125 minutes of overtime compensation per week, or 80 to 250 minutes of overtime for the entire two-week pay period. | | | | | |
| 14 | Defendant also did not include commissions or other incentives earned | | | | | |
| 15 | during this pay period in the calculation of Plaintiff's regular hourly rate, and instead, simply paid him 1.5 times his straight-time hourly rate for the overtime worked. | | | | | |
| 16 | | | | | | |
| 17 | 52. Plaintiff and all other CSRs worked a fulltime schedule that often exceeded forty hours | | | | | |
| 18 | in a work week and eight hours in a day; however, their overtime pay did not account for any of the | | | | | |
| 19 | off-the-clock work as set forth herein. | | | | | |
| 20 | Defendant Failed to Properly Calculate the Regular Rate of Pay | | | | | |
| 21 | 53. As non-exempt employees, Defendant's CSRs were entitled to full compensation for | | | | | |
| 22 | all overtime hours worked at a rate of 1.5 times their "regular rate" of pay. | | | | | |
| 23 | 54. Under FLSA, the regular rate is the "keystone" to calculating the overtime rate. Walling | | | | | |
| 24 | v. Youngerman-Reynolds Hardwood Co., 325 U.S. 419 (1945). It is "the hourly rate actually paid to | | | | | |
| 25 | the employee for the normal, non-overtime workweek for which he is employed." 29 C.F.R. §778.108. | | | | | |
| 26 | 55. No matter how an employee is paid—whether by the hour, by the piece, on a | | | | | |
| 27 | commission, or on a salary—the employee's compensation must be converted to an equivalent hourly | | | | | |
| 28 | rate from which the overtime rate can be calculated. 29 C.F.R. §778.109. "The regular hourly rate of | | | | | | pay is determined by dividing the employee's total remuneration for employment (except statutory exclusions) in any workweek by the total number of hours actually worked by the employee in that workweek for which such compensation was paid." Id.

56. Defendant's compensation plan for CSRs did not fall within any of the statutory exclusions from the regular rate as provided in 29 U.S.C. §§ 207(e)(1)-(8).

57. A commission-based employee's regular rate of pay is computed by reference to the number of hours the commission payment is intended to compensate. 29 C.F.R. §778.117.

This is true regardless of whether the commission is the sole source of the employee's compensation or is paid in addition to a guaranteed salary or hourly rate, or on some other basis, and regardless of the method, frequency, or regularity of computing, allocating and paying the commission. It does not matter whether the commission earnings are computed daily, weekly, biweekly, semimonthly, monthly, or at some other interval. The fact that the commission is paid on a basis other than weekly, and that payment is delayed for a time past the employee's normal pay day or pay period, does not excuse the employer from including this payment in the employee's regular rate. Id.

58. There is a statutory presumption that remuneration in any form must be included in the regular rate calculation. The burden is on Defendant to establish that any payment should be excluded. Thus, determining the regular rate starts from the premise that all payments made to Plaintiff for work performed are included in the base calculation unless specifically excluded by statute.

59. Even "[w]hen the commission is paid on a weekly basis, it is added to the employee's other earnings for that workweek (except overtime premiums and other payments excluded as provided in section 7(e) of the Act), and the total is divided by the total number of hours worked in the workweek to obtain the employee's regular hourly rate for the particular workweek. The employee must then be paid extra compensation at one-half of that rate for each hour worked in excess of the applicable maximum hours standard." 29 C.F.R. §778.118.

60. Once the total amount of an employee's "regular" compensation is deduced, "the determination of the regular rate becomes a matter of mathematical computation." Walling v.

Case 2:18-cv-02926-JAM-EFB Document 1 Filed 11/06/18 Page 11 of 29

Youngerman-Reynolds Hardwood Co., 325 U.S. 419, 425 (1945). The regular rate must be expressed as an hourly rate because, although any method of compensating an employee is permitted, the FLSA imposes its overtime requirements in terms of hourly wages. Thus, if necessary, an employer must convert an employee's wages to rate per hour to determine compliance with the statute.

61. Because Defendant's compensation scheme failed to incorporate the regular rate of pay, Defendant failed to properly compensate Plaintiff and its other CSRs under the FLSA.

62. Under California law, employees are entitled to "no less than one and one-half times the regular rate of pay" for work in excess of eight hours in one workday. Any work in excess of 12 hours in one day shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular rate of pay for an employee. In addition, any work in excess of eight hours on any seventh day of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular of a workweek shall be compensated at the rate of no less than twice the regular call. Lab. Code, § 510(a).

63. The California Division of Labor Standards Enforcement Manual section 49.2.4.2 provides a reasonable formula for calculating overtime on a flat sum bonus. The flat sum bonus formula set forth in sections 49.2.4.2 and 49.2.4.3 of the Manual, which uses a divisor of straight time, instead of total hours worked to set the regular bonus rate, and a multiplier of 1.5, rather than 0.5, to fix the bonus overtime due, produces "a premium based on bonus" that is necessary to avoid encouraging the use of overtime.

64. Because Defendant's compensation scheme failed to incorporate the California Division of Labor Standards Enforcement Manual formula, Defendant failed to properly compensate Plaintiff and its other CSRs under the California Labor Code.

65. Because Defendant's weekly pay period compensation scheme did not pay commissions in the week in which they were earned, Defendant failed to properly compensate Plaintiff and its other CSRs under the California Labor Code. See e.g., Peabody v. Time Warner Cable, Inc., 59 Cal. 4th 662, 663 (Cal. 2014) (An employer may not attribute commission wages paid in one pay period to other pay periods in order to satisfy the minimum earnings prong of the commissioned employee exemption to the overtime requirement in Lab. Code, § 510).

66. Plaintiff brings this action pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b) of the FLSA on their own behalf and on behalf of:

All current and former CSRs who worked for Defendant at any time from November 6, 2015 through judgment.

(hereinafter referred to as the "FLSA Collective"). Plaintiff reserves the right to amend this definition if necessary.

67. Defendant is liable under the FLSA for, inter alia, failing to properly compensate Plaintiff and other similarly situated CSRs.

68. Excluded from the proposed FLSA Collective are Defendant's executives, administrative and professional employees, including computer professionals and outside sales persons.

69. Consistent with Defendant's policy and pattern or practice, Plaintiff and the members of the FLSA Collective were not paid premium overtime compensation for all hours they worked beyond 40 hours in a workweek.

70. All of the work that Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective members performed was assigned by Defendant, and/or Defendant was aware of all of the work that Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective members performed.

71. As part of its regular business practice, Defendant intentionally, willfully, and repeatedly engaged in a pattern, practice, and/or policy of violating the FLSA with respect to Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective members. This policy and pattern or practice includes, but is not limited to:
a. Willfully failing to pay its employees, including Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective, for all hours worked including premium overtime wages for all hours worked in excess of 40 hours per workweek; and Willfully failing to accurately record all of the time that its employees, including Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective, worked for Defendant's benefit.

26 72. Defendant is aware or should have been aware that federal law required it to pay 27 Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective overtime premiums for all hours worked in excess of 40 per 28 workweek.

74. Defendant's unlawful conduct was widespread, repeated, and consistent.

75. A collective action under the FLSA is appropriate because the employees described above are "similarly situated" to Plaintiff under 29 U.S.C. § 216(b). The employees on behalf of whom Plaintiff brings this collective action are similarly situated because (a) they have been or are employed in the same or similar positions; (b) they were or are performing the same or similar job duties; (c) they were or are subject to the same or similar unlawful practices, policy, or plan; and (d) their claims are based upon the same factual and legal theories.

76. The employment relationships between Defendant and every proposed FLSA Collective member are the same and differ only by name, location, and rate of pay. The key issues – the amount of uncompensated off-the-clock work owed to each employee – does not vary substantially among the proposed FLSA Collective members.

77. There are many similarly situated current and former CSRs who were underpaid in violation of the FLSA who would benefit from the issuance of a court-authorized notice of this lawsuit and the opportunity to join it.

78. Notice should be sent to the FLSA Collective pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b).

79. Those similarly situated employees are known to Defendant, are readily identifiable, and can be located through Defendant's records.

80. Plaintiff estimates the proposed FLSA Collective, including both current and former employees over the relevant period will include several hundreds, if not thousands, of workers. The precise number of FLSA Collective members should be readily available from a review of Defendant's personnel and payroll records.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

81. Plaintiff brings this action as a class action pursuant to California Code of Civil § 382 for the following Class of persons:

All current and former CSRs who worked for any Defendant in California at any time from November 6, 2014 through judgment.

(hereinafter referred to as the "California Class"). Plaintiff reserves the right to amend the putative class definition if necessary. Plaintiff shares the same interests as the putative class and will be entitled under the California Labor Code to unpaid overtime compensation, attorneys' fees, and costs and lost interest owed to them under nearly identical factual and legal standards as the remainder of the putative class.

82. While the exact number of Class members is unknown to Plaintiff at this time, and will be ascertained through appropriate discovery, Plaintiff is informed and believes that Defendant employed hundreds, if not thousands, of CSRs throughout California. The number of individuals who comprise the Class are so numerous that joinder of all such persons is impracticable and the disposition of their claims in a class action, rather than in individual actions, will benefit both the parties and the courts.

83. Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the other members of the Class. All members of the Class have been and/or continue to be similarly affected by Defendant's wrongful conduct as complained of herein, in violation of federal and state law. Plaintiff is unaware of any interests that conflict with or are antagonistic to the interests of the Class.

84. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the Class members' interests and have retained counsel competent and experienced in consumer class action lawsuits and complex litigation. Plaintiff and their counsel have the necessary financial resources to adequately and vigorously litigate this class action, and Plaintiff is aware of their duties and responsibilities to the Class.

85. Defendant has acted with respect to the Class in a manner generally applicable to each Class member. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all Class members and predominate over any questions wholly affecting individual Class members. There is a well-defined community of interest in the questions of law and fact involved in the action, which affect all Class members. Among the questions of law and fact common to the Class are, inter alia:

regular wages for each non-overtime hour worked;

- b. Whether Defendant engaged in a policy or practice of failing to pay each Class member

a. Whether Defendant engaged in a policy or practice of failing to pay each Class member overtime compensation for each overtime hour worked;

- c. Whether Defendant violated Labor Code sections 221 and 223 by making unlawful deductions to Class members' wages;
- d. Whether Defendant failed to provide each Class member with at least one 30-minute meal period on every workday of at least 5 hours and a second 30-minute meal period on every workday of at least 10 hours as required by the California Employment Law and Regulations;
- e. Whether Defendant violated section 226 of the Labor Code by willfully failing to provide accurate itemized wage statements showing the number of hours worked by each Class member and the corresponding hourly rate;
- f. Whether Defendant violated sections 1174 and 1175 of the Labor Code and the applicable Industrial Welfare Commission Orders by failing to maintain records pertaining to when Class members began and ended each work period, the total daily hours worked, and the total hours worked per pay period;
 - g. Whether Defendant violated section 510 of the Labor Code and the applicable Industrial Welfare Commission Orders by failing to accurately calculate regular rates of pay for overtime purposes;
 - h. Whether Defendant was unjustly enriched by the work and services performed by Class members without compensation;
 - Whether Defendant engaged in unfair business practices in violation of Business and Professions Code section 17200, et seq.;
 - j. Whether Defendant breached their duty of good faith and fair dealing by limiting or manipulating the leads given to their CSRs; and
 - k. Whether Defendant should be required to pay compensatory damages, attorneys' fees, penalties, costs, and interest for violating California state law.

86. A class action is superior to all other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy since joinder of all members is impracticable. Furthermore, as the damages suffered by individual Class members may be relatively small, the expense and burden of individual litigation make it virtually impossible for Class members to individually redress the wrongs done to them. There will be no difficulty in managing this action as a class action.

87. Defendant has acted on grounds generally applicable to the entire Class with respect to the matters complained of herein, thereby making appropriate the relief sought herein with respect to the Class as a whole.

REPRESENTATIVE ACTION ALLEGATIONS

88. PAGA is a mechanism by which the State of California itself can enforce state labor laws through the employee suing under the PAGA who do so as the proxy or agent of the state's labor law enforcement agencies. An action to recover civil penalties under PAGA is fundamentally a law enforcement action designed to protect the public and not to benefit private parties. The purpose of the PAGA is not to recover damages or restitution, but to create a means of "deputizing" citizens as private attorneys general to enforce the Labor Code. In enacting PAGA, the California Legislature specified that "it was ... in the public interest to allow aggrieved employees, acting as private attorney general to recover civil penalties for Labor Code violations ..." Stats. 2003, Ch. 906, § 1.

89. Plaintiff Ware complied with the procedures for bringing suit specified in Labor Code Section 2699.3. By certified letter, return receipt requested, dated October 10, 2018, Plaintiff Ware gave written notice to the Labor and Workforce Development Agency ("LWDA") and to Defendant of the specific provisions of the Labor Code alleged to have been violated, including the facts and theories to support the alleged violations. A true and correct copy of this letter is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

90. After sixty days from the service of the PAGA notice, if the LWDA has not provided any notice by certified mail of its intent to investigate the Defendant's alleged violations as mandated by Labor Code Section 2699.3(a)(2)(A), then Plaintiff intends to pursue the PAGA claims outlined herein. Accordingly, unless such notice is received from the LWDA, at the expiration of sixty days, Plaintiff brings this representative action on behalf of the State of California with respect to himself and all other individuals who are or previously were employed by Defendant in California classified as non-exempt employees during the applicable statutory period (the "Aggrieved Employees"). The PAGA claims outlined herein will not become effective until the sixty days have lapsed.

federally mandated rate of 1.5 times each employee's regularly hourly wage. 29 U.S.C. § 207.

102. In addition to failing to pay for all off-the-clock work performed every shift by Plaintiff and the FSLA Collective members, Defendant failed to properly calculate the regular rate of pay of Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective members.

103. As non-exempt employees, Defendant's CSRs were entitled to full compensation for all overtime hours worked at a rate of 1.5 times their "regular rate" of pay.

104. Under FLSA, the regular rate is the "keystone" to calculating the overtime rate. Walling v. Youngerman-Reynolds Hardwood Co., 325 U.S. 419 (1945). It is "the hourly rate actually paid to the employee for the normal, non-overtime workweek for which he is employed." 29 C.F.R. §778.108.

105. No matter how an employee is paid—whether by the hour, by the piece, on a commission, or on a salary—the employee's compensation must be converted to an equivalent hourly rate from which the overtime rate can be calculated. 29 C.F.R. §778.109. "The regular hourly rate of pay is determined by dividing the employee's total remuneration for employment (except statutory exclusions) in any workweek by the total number of hours actually worked by the employee in that workweek for which such compensation was paid." Id.

106. Defendant's compensation plan for Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective did not fall within any of the statutory exclusions from the regular rate as provided in 29 U.S.C. §§ 207(e)(1)-(8).

107. A commission-based employee's regular rate of pay is computed by reference to the number of hours the commission payment is intended to compensate. 29 C.F.R. §778.117.

This is true regardless of whether the commission is the sole source of the employee's compensation or is paid in addition to a guaranteed salary or hourly rate, or on some other basis, and regardless of the method, frequency, or regularity of computing, allocating and paying the commission. It does not matter whether the commission earnings are computed daily, weekly, biweekly, semimonthly, monthly, or at some other interval. The fact that the commission is paid on a basis other than weekly, and that payment is delayed for a time past the employee's normal pay day or pay period, does not excuse the employer from including this payment in the employee's regular rate. Id.

108. There is a statutory presumption that remuneration in any form must be included in the regular rate calculation. The burden is on Defendant to establish that any payment should be excluded. Thus, determining the regular rate starts from the premise that all payments made to Plaintiff for work performed are included in the base calculation unless specifically excluded by statute.

109. Even "[w]hen the commission is paid on a weekly basis, it is added to the employee's other earnings for that workweek (except overtime premiums and other payments excluded as provided in section 7(e) of the Act), and the total is divided by the total number of hours worked in the workweek to obtain the employee's regular hourly rate for the particular workweek. The employee must then be paid extra compensation at one-half of that rate for each hour worked in excess of the applicable maximum hours standard." 29 C.F.R. §778.118.

110. Once the total amount of an employee's "regular" compensation is deduced, "the determination of the regular rate becomes a matter of mathematical computation." Walling v. Youngerman-Reynolds Hardwood Co., 325 U.S. 419, 425 (1945). The regular rate must be expressed as an hourly rate because, although any method of compensating an employee is permitted, the FLSA imposes its overtime requirements in terms of hourly wages. Thus, if necessary, an employer must convert an employee's wages to rate per hour to determine compliance with the statute.

111. Because Defendant's compensation scheme failed to incorporate the regular rate of pay, Defendant failed to properly compensate Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective under the FLSA.

112. Defendant's violations of the FLSA were knowing and willful. Defendant knew or could have determined how long it took for their CSRs to perform their off-the-clock work. Further, Defendant could have easily accounted for and properly compensated Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective for these work activities, but did not. Finally, Defendant could have compensated Plaintiff and the FLSA Collective at their proper overtime rate, but did not.

113. The FLSA, 29 U.S.C. § 216(b), provides that as a remedy for a violation of the Act, each employee is entitled to his or her unpaid wages (including unpaid overtime), plus an additional equal amount in liquidated damages (double damages), plus costs and reasonable attorneys' fees. ///

VIOLATION OF CALIFORNIA LABOR CODE §§ 510, 1194, 1198 AND WAGE ORDER – FAILURE TO PAY OVERTIME

(On Behalf of the California Class)

114. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates all previous paragraphs herein.

115. At all relevant times, Defendant regularly and consistently maintained corporate policies and procedures designed to reduce labor costs by reducing or minimizing the amount of compensation paid to its employees, especially overtime compensation.

116. At all relevant times, Plaintiff and the Class regularly performed non-exempt work and were thus subject to the overtime requirements of California law.

117. Labor Code §§ 510 and 1198 and Wage Order § 3(A) provide that: (a) employees are entitled to compensation at the rate of one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for all hours worked in excess of eight (8) hours in a workday up to twelve (12) hours in a workday, in excess of forty (40) hours in a workweek, and for the first eight (8) hours of work on the seventh (7th) consecutive day or a workweek; and (b) employees are entitled to compensation at the rate of twice their regular rate of pay for all hours worked in excess of twelve (12) hours in a workday, and in excess of eight (8) hours on the seventh (7th) consecutive day of work in a workweek.

118. At all relevant times, Plaintiff and the Class regularly worked in excess of eight (8) hours in a workday and/or in excess of forty (40) hours in a workweek.

119. At all relevant times, Defendant failed and refused to pay Plaintiff and the Class members for any and all hours actually worked in excess of the scheduled shift and to compensate them at their regular rate of pay.

120. Defendant intentionally, maliciously, fraudulently and with the intent to deprive the Class of their ability to earn a living so as to reduce their labor costs, knowingly and willingly implemented a scheme or artifice to avoid paying overtime by reducing the rate of pay to Plaintiff and other Class members who worked overtime hours.

121. Plaintiff and the Class were entitled to receive overtime compensation at their lawful regular rate of pay, including the shift differential where applicable. Defendant's failure to pay lawful premium overtime wages, as alleged above, was a willful violation of Labor Code §§ 510, 1198, and Wage Order.

122. Wherefore, Plaintiff demands payment of the unpaid balance of the full amount of wages due for unpaid time worked, as well as overtime premiums owing, including interest thereon, penalties, reasonable attorneys' fees, and costs of suit pursuant to Labor Code §§ 1194 and 1194.2 as a result of Defendant's failure to pay for all time worked and such premium compensation, as is required under California law.

COUNT III

VIOLATION OF CALIFORNIA LABOR CODE §§ 221 and 223 – UNLAWFUL DEDUCTIONS

(On Behalf of the California Class)

123. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates all previous paragraphs herein.

124. At all relevant times, Defendant regularly and consistently maintained corporate policies and procedures designed to reduce labor costs by reducing or minimizing the amount of compensation paid to its employees, especially overtime compensation.

125. Defendant made deductions from Plaintiff's and the Class members' paychecks in the amount of the overtime premiums earned by the employee during the pay period so as to avoid paying overtime compensation.

126. Labor Code § 221 provides it is unlawful for any employer to collect or receive from an employee any part of wages theretofore paid by employer to employee.

127. Labor Code § 223 provides that where any statute or contract requires an employer to maintain the designated wage scale, it shall be unlawful to secretly pay a lower wage while purporting to pay the wage designated by statute or by contract. Labor Code section 225 further provides that the violation of any provision of Labor Code §§ 221 and 223 is a misdemeanor.

128. As a result of the conduct alleged above, Defendant unlawfully collected or received from Plaintiff and the Class part of the wages paid to their employees.

129. Wherefore, Plaintiff demands the return of all wages unlawfully deducted from the paychecks, including interest thereon, penalties, reasonable attorneys' fees, and costs of suit pursuant to Labor Code §§ 225.5 and 1194.

COUNT IV

VIOLATION OF CALIFORNIA LABOR CODE §§ 226.7 and 512 – FAILURE TO PROVIDE MEAL AND REST BREAKS (On Behalf of the California Class)

130. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates all previous paragraphs herein.

131. Labor Code § 512, and Wage Order § 11(A) and (B) provide that an employer may not employ a person for a work period of more than five (5) hours without providing the employee with a meal period of not less than thirty (30) minutes, and may not employ an employee for a work period of more than ten (10) hours per day without providing the employee with a second meal period of not less than (30) minutes.

132. Additionally, Defendant is required to provide a rest period of ten (10) minute break for each four (4) hour period, or major fraction thereof, worked.

133. At all relevant times, Plaintiff and the Class consistently worked in excess of five (5) or ten (10) hours in a day.

134. At all relevant times, Defendant regularly required employees to perform work during their first and/or second meal periods, without proper compensation. Further, Defendant did not provide rest breaks as is required by California law. Defendant's practice of requiring employees to perform work during their legally mandated meal and rest periods without premium compensation is a violation of Labor Code §§ 226.7 and 512, and IWC Wage Order No. 7.

135. Defendant purposefully elected not to provide meal and rest periods to Plaintiff and Class members, and Defendant acted willfully, oppressively, and in conscious disregard of the rights of Plaintiff and the Class members in failing to do so.

136. Plaintiff is informed and believes Defendant did not properly maintain records pertaining to when Plaintiff and the Class members began and ended each meal period, in violation of Labor Code §1174 and Wage Order § 7(A).

137. As a result of Defendant's knowing, willful, and intentional failure to provide meal and rest breaks, Plaintiff and the Class members are entitled to recover one (1) additional hour of pay at the employee's regular rate of pay for each work day that a meal and/or rest period was not provided, pursuant to Labor Code § 226.7 and Wage Order § 11(D), and penalties, reasonable attorneys' fees, and costs pursuant to Labor Code §§ 218.5.

138. Defendant's wrongful and illegal conduct in failing to provide Class members with meal or rest breaks or to provide premium compensation, unless and until enjoined by order of this Court, will continue to cause great and irreparable injury to Plaintiff and the Class members in that Defendant will continue to violate these laws unless specifically ordered to comply with the same. The expectation of future violations will require current and future employees to repeatedly and continuously seek legal redress in order to gain compensation to which they are already entitled. Plaintiff and the Class members have no other adequate remedy at law to insure future compliance with the laws alleged herein to have been violated.

139. Wherefore, Plaintiff demands, pursuant to Labor Code Section 227.7(b), that Defendant pay each Class member one additional hour of pay at the Class member's regular rate of compensation for each work day that the meal and/or rest period was not provided.

COUNT V

VIOLATION OF CALIFORNIA LABOR CODE § 226 and 1174 -

FAILURE TO PROVIDE ACCURATE WAGE STATEMENTS

(On Behalf of the California Class)

140. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates all previous paragraphs herein.

141. Labor Code §§ 226 and 1174 provide that every employer shall, semi-monthly or at the time of payment of wages, furnish each employee, either as a detachable part of the check or separately, an accurate, itemized statement in writing showing the total hours worked, and the applicable hourly rates and corresponding total number of hours worked.

142. At all relevant times, Defendant failed to maintain proper records and furnish Plaintiff and the Class members, either semi-monthly or at the time of each payment of wages, an accurate, itemized statement conforming to the requirements of Labor Code §§ 226 and 1174.

143. At all relevant times, Defendant failed to furnish Plaintiff and the Class members with accurate wage statements in writing, showing: (1) gross wages earned; (2) total hours worked by each respective employee; (3) all deductions; (4) net wages earned; (5) the inclusive dates of the period for which the employee is paid; (6) the name of the employee and only the last four digits of his or her social security number or an employee identification number; (7) the name and address of the legal entity that is the employer; and (8) all applicable hourly rates in effect during the pay period and the corresponding number of hours worked at each hourly rate.

144. Plaintiff is informed and believes that Defendant knew or should have known that Plaintiff and the Class members were entitled to receive wage statements compliant with Labor Code §§ 226 and 1174, and that Defendant willfully and intentionally failed to provide Plaintiff and the Class members with such accurate, itemized statements showing, for example, accurate hours and overtime calculations.

145. Wherefore Plaintiff demands that Defendant pay each and every Class member fifty dollars ($50.00) for the initial pay period in which the violation occurred and one hundred dollars ($100) for each subsequent violation, up to a maximum of four thousand dollars ($4,000.00) pursuant to Labor Code § 226, as well as reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.

COUNT VII

VIOLATION OF BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONS CODE, § 17200, et seq.

(On Behalf of the California Class)

146. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates all previous paragraphs herein.

147. Defendant engaged and continues to engage in unfair business practices in California by practicing, employing and utilizing the unlawful practices described above, including: (a) training and directing CSRs to work off-the-clock without compensation; (b) making deductions to CSRs' paychecks to recover overtime premiums earned by the employee; (c) requiring CSRs to work overtime without lawful premium compensation; (d) failing to provide lawful meal breaks or premium compensation in lieu thereof; and (e) failing to provide accurate, itemized wage statements.

148. In addition, the conduct alleged in each of the previously stated causes of action constitute an unlawful and for unfair business practice within the meaning of Business & Professions Code § 17200, et seq.

149. As a result of Defendant's conduct, Plaintiff and the Class have been harmed as described in the allegations set forth above.

CLASS ACTION/REPRESENTATIVE ACTION COMPLAINT

Case 2:18-cv-02926-JAM-EFB Document 1 Filed 11/06/18 Page 25 of 29

150. The actions described above, constitute false, unfair, fraudulent and deceptive business practices within the meaning of California Business & Professions Code § 17200, el seq. By and through such unfair, unlawful and/or fraudulent business practices, Defendant obtained valuable property, money and services from Plaintiff and the Class, and have deprived Plaintiff and the Class fundamental rights and privileges guaranteed to all employees under California law.

151. Defendant was unjustly enriched by the policies and practices described herein, and those policies and practices conferred an unfair business advantage on Defendant over other businesses providing similar services which routinely comply with the requirements of California law.

152. Plaintiff seeks, on their own behalf, and on behalf of the putative Class members, full restitution of all monies withheld, acquired and/or converted by Defendant by means of the unfair practices complained of herein, as necessary and according to proof, and/or disgorgement of all profits acquired by Defendant by means of the acts and practices described herein.

153. Plaintiff seeks, on their own behalf, and on behalf of other Class members similarly situated, an injunction to prohibit Defendant from continuing to engage in the unfair business practices complained of herein. Defendant's unlawful conduct, as described above, unless and until enjoined and restrained by order of this Court, will cause great and irreparable injury to Plaintiff and all Class members in that Defendant will continue to violate these California laws unless specifically ordered to comply with the same. This expectation of future violations will require current and future employees to repeatedly and continuously seek legal redress in order to gain compensation to which they are entitled under California law. Plaintiff and the Class have no other adequate remedy at law to insure future compliance with the California labor laws and wage orders alleged to have been violated herein.

COUNT VII

VIOLATION OF PRIVATE ATTORNEY GENERAL ACT, CAL. LAB. CODE § 2698 et seq. (On Behalf of the Aggrieved Employees)

154. Plaintiff re-alleges and incorporates all previous paragraphs herein.

26 155. At all relevant times, Plaintiff and similarly situated employees were aggrieved 27 employees of Defendant under Labor Code Section 2699.

156. Labor Code Sections 2699(a) and (g) authorize an Aggrieved Employee, on behalf of himself and other current or former employees, to bring a civil action to recover civil penalties pursuant to the procedures specified in Labor Code Section 2699.3.

157. Plaintiff complied with the procedures for bringing suit specified in Labor Code Section 2699.3. By certified letter, return receipt requested, dated October 10, 2018, Plaintiff Ware gave written notice to the LWDA and to Defendant of the specific provisions of the Labor Code alleged to have been violated, including the facts and theories to support the alleged violations. A true and correct copy of this letter is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

158. The PAGA claims outlined herein will become effective sixty (60) days after serving the LWDA with notice of Defendant's violations, provided the LWDA has not provided any notice by certified mail of its intent to investigate the Defendant's alleged violations as mandated by Labor Code Section 2699.3(a)(2)(A). Accordingly, after sixty days has lapsed, pursuant to Labor Code Section 2699.3(a)(2)(A), Plaintiff, on behalf of the Aggrieved Employees, will commence and is authorized to pursue this cause of action via this Complaint.

159. Pursuant to Labor Code Sections 2699(a) and (f), Plaintiff and similarly situated employees are entitled to civil penalties for Defendant's violations of Labor Code Sections 201, 202, 203, 204, 226(a), 226.7, 510, 512, 558, 1194, 1194.2, 1197.1, and 1198.

160. Pursuant to Labor Code Section 2699(g), Plaintiff and similarly situated employees are entitled to an award of reasonable attorneys' fees and costs in connection with their claims for civil penalties.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff on his own behalf and on the behalf of the putative Collective and Class members, request judgment as follows:

- a. Certifying this case as a collective action in accordance with 29 U.S.C. § 216(b) with respect to the FLSA claims set forth above;
